

TimeCapsule

Modern Hospital in Early Days

PROVIDENCE hospital in August 1938 in the quiet little farming village before they had to raise the roof to accommodate the influx of US servicemen and Canadian troops and civilian workers that would make Fort St. John a boom town only four years later.

--Photo submitted by
May Barrett

Today in History

August 25th