Art in Bloom is a group exhibition including recent works of South Peace Art Society members. Focussing on the local flora of our bountiful Peace River area, the works show a diversity of techniques, media, and styles -- accenting the variety of the artists themselves.

The South Peace Art Society is a group of artists that have been meeting formally and informally in the Dawson Creek area for over fifty years. They take great stimulus from workshops with visiting artists, encouragement from each other, and inspiration from the landscape around them.

Peace Gallery North would like to acknowledge the Fort St. John Horticulture Society's, contributions to the exhibit. Special thanks are also due to Faye Cooper, for organizing this 3-dimension aspect complement included within Art in Bloom.

Welcome to this inaugural exhibit signifying the partnership between our "Peaceful" communities!
