The Fort St. John Community ARTWALK began in 2013 as part of the celebration of the 20th Anniversary of the North Peace Cultural Centre, the cultural hub of our city. It was so popular and successful for participants and viewers that the Cultural Crawl ARTWALK is back for a second year and has the potential to become an annual event.

This year the event features the creativity and talent of 28 local artists, three organized groups and presents the opportunity to visit three working artist studios on a drop-in basis. In 2015, we are hoping to once again sponsor the tours of more than 8 active and exciting local artist's studios located in town or in the surrounding area. These tours were one of the highlights of last year's event.

Businesses in and around the downtown core have been generous in welcoming artists who will display their works for the first three weeks in June and we are looking to include even more venues next year.

The Fort St. John Community Artwalk is a celebration of visual artists in Fort St. John and area. Downtown businesses and the Community Arts Council have partnered in featuring more than 23 individual artists, four arts groups and three arts shops for a month-long display of locally created artworks.

The 2015 Artwalk kicks off during the Bright Nights in June community-wide Celebration of the Arts centered around the North Peace Cultural Centre. Bright Nights in June has a gala performance, art displays and free art classes for children at the North Peace Cultural Centre. The Fort St. John North Peace Museum is holding a garage sale. The North Peace Potter's Guild has the popular Annual Chili Bowl Bash at the Artspost Pottery Studio.

Special banners designed by artist Alan White line the streets of downtown with the "Take Flight" theme.

Tourists and residents can enjoy the Artwalk 2015 until July 18.
