

Gail Mazur.

Letter to the Editor;

It has long been noticed by teachers and students alike that this school greatly lacks spirit and enthusiasm. The student council finds it difficult to give the student body what it wants because they are so helpless. I say helpless because the students of this school grumble and complain about situations, yet refuse to make any positive move toward improving anything. No one wants to get involved yet all will complain when something is favoured by the majority.

The project of North Peace that most probably will be acclaimed the highlight of the year is the musical "Oklahoma". This play has brought many efforts together and the production will be well worth watching. The success of such a project takes cooperation and the capabilities of people willing to devote time to their task. ~~This school can be proud at what it has accomplished, or at least what those people involved have accomplished.~~

Those people involved with "Oklahoma" can be proud of what they have accomplished and their production should be an example to the rest of the student body as to what a little effort can do.